X-TEST™ Universal Prayer System

The X-Test™ workstation uses advanced technologies to provide an interactive framework for submitting focused prayer requests tailored to specific health concerns and wellness goals. It was developed by Alexander von Pelet, PhD, at WellConn in Germany and operates in a stand-alone mode, without any connection to the internet.

X-Test™ aims to promote a state of high-level well-being for humans, animals, plants, and the environment. Additional areas of application may include, but are not limited to, support for business operations, real estate, personal property, and karmic issues.

For each client, a dedicated, private channel is configured. Then a series of preset general prayer functions is activated prior to completing a personal prayer input field with a description of the situation that needs to be improved upon. Additional assistance from specific spiritual helpers can be requested, as desired.

X-Test™ is a suitable option for anyone who believes in the power of prayer.

It can be used both on-site and remotely (with phone, email, and video-chat options).
